ILLUMINATIVE’S MISSION

Created and led by Native peoples, IllumiNative is creating and amplifying authentic, accurate, and contemporary portrayals of Native peoples in pop culture, media, k-12 education, and other key sectors by challenging invisibility and inaccurate toxic stereotypes and stories.

Echo Hawk Consulting, co-led the biggest formative research project ever conducted by, for, and about Native peoples — Reclaiming Native Truth.

The strategy-setting formative research project was the first step in launching IllumiNative. IllumiNative is using the research as a roadmap of action to change the narrative about Native peoples.

WHAT ARE WE FIGHTING FOR?

- A future where the self-determination of Native peoples and tribal sovereignty are respected and supported
- Where Native children, families, and communities no longer face the devastating effects of discrimination and racism
- Where Native peoples shape, author, and control their own story
WHAT STANDS IN OUR WAY?
INVISIBILITY
TOXIC STEREOTYPES AND FALSE NARRATIVES FILL THE VOID LEFT BY INVISIBILITY
INSTITUTIONALIZED ERASURE OF NATIVE PEOPLES
“INVISIBILITY IS THE MODERN FORM OF RACISM AGAINST NATIVE AMERICANS.”

– Dr. Stephanie Fryberg (Tulalip), University of Washington.
INSTITUTIONS PERPETUATE AND SYSTEMATIZE INVISIBILITY, TOXIC STEREOTYPES, AND FALSE NARRATIVES

87% of state-level history standards fail to cover Native people’s history in a post-1900 context.

27 states make no mention of a single Native American in K-12 curriculum.

WHAT ARE THE EFFECTS OF INVISIBILITY?

72% OF AMERICANS RARELY ENCOUNTER OR RECEIVE INFORMATION ABOUT NATIVE AMERICANS

78% OF AMERICANS POLLED KNOW LITTLE TO NOTHING ABOUT NATIVE AMERICANS AND A SIGNIFICANT PORTION BELIEVE THAT NATIVE PEOPLES MUST BE A DWINDLING POPULATION BECAUSE THEY DO NOT SEE, HEAR, OR READ ABOUT NATIVE PEOPLES.

- Invisibility of Native people fuels bias and racism in schools, the media, the courts, and Congress.
- Keeps Native communities from having a seat at the table.
- Dehumanizes Native peoples.
THE VOID LEFT BY INVISIBILITY IS FILLED WITH MYTHS, TOXIC STEREOTYPES, AND INACCURATE PORTRAYALS IN MOVIES, TV, AND NEWS MEDIA.

TOXIC NARRATIVES ARE DANGEROUS

MYTH:
"NATIVE AMERICANS RECEIVE GOVERNMENT BENEFITS AND ARE GETTING RICH OFF CASINOS."

- A POLITICALLY CONVENIENT EXCUSE TO IGNORE NATIVE AMERICAN POVERTY, HEALTH OUTCOMES, SUICIDE, AND INCOME INEQUALITY.
- CANNOT BE "EQUAL" AND DEPENDENT
- DEFICIT LANGUAGE CREATES APATHY AND REINFORCES STEREOTYPES, E.G., POVERTY, DEPLORABLE LIVING CONDITIONS, AT RISK COMMUNITIES, ALCOHOLICS
- ALLOWS RATIONALIZATION OF PAST — AND CURRENT — INJUSTICES.
- DUE TO THE MYTH THAT NATIVES ARE RICH AND RECEIVE GOV. HANDOUTS, MANY IN GOV. BELIEVE "WE ARE DOING ENOUGH."
- ALLIANCES WITH COMMUNITIES OF COLOR UNDERMINED DUE TO PERCEPTION OF PREFERENTIAL TREATMENT.
- CREATES CONFUSION ABOUT SOVEREIGNTY, E.G., HOW CAN A "NATION" BE RELIANT ON GOV. MONEY.
Most federal judges don’t understand sovereignty, have never taken an Indian law course, yet routinely make major decisions affecting tribal nations and citizens.

One American Indian law clerk said a law professor at a Top 10 law school said, “tribes often call themselves ‘nations’ to puff themselves up.”

Policymakers and leaders described tribal governments as having a “poverty mentality,” where they fail to plan ahead and are reactive versus proactive.

Congresspersons agree that invisibility, stereotypes, and deficit narratives affect policy.

A significant number of Congresspeople don’t have Tribes in their districts and see Native peoples as “somebody else’s problem.”

FOR TOO LONG WE HAVE BEEN TOLD WE ARE INVISIBLE AND DON’T COUNT
THE TIME IS NOW
CHANGE THE STORY.
CHANGE THE FUTURE.
WHAT IS THE NEW NATIVE NARRATIVE?
FIGHT BIAS AND RACISM WITH NARRATIVE

- DISRUPT and interrupt invisibility
- SMASH toxic stereotypes
- AMPLIFY contemporary, accurate Native stories, voices & issues
Narratives are cultural ideas or stories that dominate and affect how we view or understand the world. These narratives are created by perceptions, messages, myths, stereotypes, and personal or secondary experiences.
Narrative change happens when various efforts combine to shift the dominant narrative. It happens when people receive the right prompts and begin to internalize a new way of approaching an issue, which in turn makes them act differently.

WE MUST REPLACE THE CURRENT NARRATIVES WITH CONTEMPORARY, AND AUTHENTIC STORIES ABOUT NATIVE PEOPLES.
In April 2018, conducted a nationally representative survey of 2,000 U.S. adults to study whether various groups, given “new narrative” messaging strategies, would shift their opinions on Native specific issues such as pop culture representation, the Indian Child Welfare Act, and tribal sovereignty.
GOOD NEWS! When diverse groups of Americans are exposed to the “new Native narrative” they are moved to change perceptions, be more supportive and are open to learning more:

- 78% of Americans are interested in learning more about Native cultures and that strong majorities support Native positions on most issues;
- 72% believe it is necessary that to make significant changes to K-12 curriculum on Native history & culture;
- 64% even among conservatives, support increasing resources to reduce poverty and improve health care and education.

THE NEW NARRATIVE MOVES PEOPLE.
NEW NARRATIVES TESTED
When these elements are combined, narratives change hearts and minds.

- VALUES: Linking to VALUES creates a connection and builds understanding.
- HISTORY: Weaving in brief, accurate facts and HISTORY is compelling.
- VISIBILITY: Showing VISIBILITY in contemporary life moves people past stereotypes.
- CALL TO ACTION: A clear and specific CALL TO ACTION is motivating.
"The history of Native Americans is one of great strength and revitalization. It is a story built around values that have shaped Native cultures and American society: respect for family and elders, shared responsibility to care for the land, and an obligation to do right by the next generation. It is a story of resilience through great pain and injustice, from broken treaties and loss of land and language in the past to derogatory sports mascots and biased history taught in schools today. Across more than 600 sovereign Native nations and in every profession and segment of society, Native Americans carry the cultural knowledge and wisdom that sustains native nations and helps build a stronger future for all.

Let's find our commonalities, celebrate our differences and creatively work together for our shared future and the futures of the next generations."
All children deserve to be raised by loving families in supportive communities, surrounded by the culture and heritage they know best.

In Native cultures, family is defined very broadly. Everyone plays an active role in raising a child and is ready to help in times of crisis.

But when the U.S. child welfare system was created, it was biased against raising a child in this way - as a community. As a result, the U.S. government removed Native children from their families - not because of abuse or neglect, but because of this communal way of being. The Indian Child Welfare Act (ICWA) was passed in 1978 to prevent Native American children from being unjustly taken away and adopted outside their culture.

Today, however, ICWA is not consistently respected.

We need to uphold and improve the law to make sure we are doing what is best for Native Children.
Honor and integrity are important values we all look for in other people. They’re important values for countries, too. When a country makes an agreement or signs a treaty, you expect them to live up to it.

And yet, our own country has broken more than 500 treaties with Native nations that were here long before the United States was founded.

Today, there are more than 600 sovereign Native Nations within the borders of the United States, and they pay federal taxes like all Americans. Yet, federal and state governments, corporations and individuals continue to violate these treaties and challenge the sovereignty of these independent nations to set their own laws and do what is right for their own citizens.

It is only fair to honor the treaties with Native nations and to respect their sovereignty.
Our own culture and heritage are important parts of who we are and how we define ourselves.

No one deserves to see their heritage insulted or ridiculed. Yet, for hundreds of years, Native Americans have been mocked and dehumanized by slurs and images in team mascots at every level, from elementary schools to professional sports.

While some people mistakenly believe that these mascots are harmless or even respectful, the mascots actually represent a continued dehumanization of Native peoples and do real psychological harm to Native children.

It’s time to eliminate the use of Native American names, symbols and images as team mascots.
THE NEW NARRATIVE WORKS!

WHEN OFFERED ACCURATE NARRATIVES:
- 78% of those polled wanted to learn more about Native Americans.

78% OF ALL AMERICANS believe it is important to feature more
STORIES ABOUT NATIVE AMERICANS on television, in movies, and in other entertainment.
At the beginning of the survey, only 34% of respondents said they believed that Native Americans face a great deal or a lot of discrimination. After hearing narratives that used the new narrative framework, that number jumped to 55%.
72% of Americans support changing curriculum to ensure accurate native history is taught in schools.
THE NEW NARRATIVE WORKS!

THERE WAS A 5-26% INCREASE IN SUPPORT FOR TRIBAL SOVEREIGNTY, ICWA, BANNING RACIST MASCOT, AND INCREASING NATIVE REPRESENTATION AFTER HEARING THE NEW NARRATIVES.
